HORSE SHOW TO SET RECORD. Entries Received Earlier Than Usual and in Greater Numbers. Although the entry list for the National Capital horse show does not close until April 26, 115 of the 150 box stalls on the grounds at 18th and D streets northwest have been reserved, it was announced today.

"This practically assures a record-breaking number of entries," said Manager Hazen. "Never in the history of the show have as many entries been received so early."

Mr. Hazen returned today from a trip to Prince William county, Va., where he practically made arrangements for the purchase of a colt to be presented by Gen. James A. Buchanan, president of the show, to the officer winning the seven-mile endurance contest. The colt is a two-year-old chestnut, 15.2½ hands high, and won first prize as a suckling foal at the Maryland horse show. He has been passed by the veterinarian of the government remount station at Fort Royal, Va., and will be presented to the army as a model type for officers' mount.

GALE'S FORCE FELT ON LAND AND WATER

Boats Dragged From Moorings, Lumber Hurled Through Air, Cars Stopped.

WOMAN BLOWN DOWN; TWO HORSES CRUSHED

Trees Felled, Plate Glass Windows Broken, Several Men Hurt in Fifty-Mile Blow.

In the windstorm which blew over this section yesterday afternoon and last night the highest velocity in this city was fifty miles an hour, at 3:45 o'clock. The average velocity during the night was about thirty-eight miles an hour.

The gales prevailed on the Atlantic coast from the Virginia capes to Cape Cod, according to the weather bureau. The highest velocity was recorded at New York, where a mark of seventy-two miles was reached last night. The wind was from the northwest, and at Delaware breakwater the velocity was recorded at sixty-eight and at Norfolk at sixty. The storm today is over Nova Scotia and moving eastward.

Fair weather is predicted for today and tomorrow, followed by rain tomorrow night.

Some damage was done about the city and along the river front yesterday afternoon and last night by the wind. It was said by rivermen that the gale was about as heavy as ever occurs along the Potomac. Though at times the winds reached almost hurricane velocity, no serious damage was done.

Launches Picked Up. Several launches lying at anchor in the harbor were dragged from their moorings, but were picked up by the police boat Vigilant and reanchored before being damaged. The seas that rolled across the city last night were as large as those that came in yesterday afternoon and when they struck the seawall the water curved over it upon the park and spray flew for a hundred feet.

When the gale broke, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the waves were heavy enough to pick up boats from piles in the lumber yards and to send them flying through the air. At the 10th street wharf a large part of a lumber pile belonging to the Elm City Lumber Company was blown upon a Clarke street car and driven overboard, striking the smokestack of the tug Jeff, broke in halves and a piece, falling into the engine room of the tug. Captain Toby, struck George Douglas, fireman of the tug, and bruised him somewhat. The big yacht Carolina, lying at anchor in the lower end of the harbor, dragged several hundred feet before being checked. The schooner Maguire lost her topsail in the blow.

Interrupts Car Traffic. A guy rope attached to a trolley pole at Georgia avenue and Sheridan street, where the wind yesterday afternoon damaged the pole and interrupted traffic on the car line, last night was the cause of two accidents, according to a police report.

Robert Harrod, colored, a chauffeur, in charge of a motor truck, was thrown from his seat and injured when his vehicle came in contact with the rope, and he lost two checks belonging to his employer.

An automobile operated by Paul Freeman, 602 Butterfield street, was blown over and came in contact with the rope and to be damaged. The driver was not injured.

A portion of a stable on Bladensburg road, near Hickey lane, the property of John H. Howser, was blown down by the wind yesterday afternoon. One horse was badly hurt and another animal was so badly hurt that it had to be killed.

Mrs. D. T. Gordon, Decatur apartments, while at Florida avenue and 18th street northwest last night about 8:45 o'clock, was blown down and injured about her hips. She was taken home in a passing automobile.

Motor Car Hits Fence. An automobile belonging to Charles S. Dulaney, 221 East Capitol street, last night about 9:45 o'clock was damaged to the amount of $25 as a result of the high wind. The vehicle came in contact with a fence that was blown down in the rear of 228 A street northeast.

Part of the fence enclosing the Saul property at 7th and L streets northwest, where a building collapsed during a storm several weeks ago and killed several persons, was blown down yesterday afternoon.

Several trees in different parts of the city were blown down and a number of plate glass windows at business places were smashed.

The waves ran so high on Chesapeake bay that two windows on the windward side of the Washington-bound Norfolk steamer were broken in. A portion of the freight deck was flooded, but the damage done was slight.

FAIR AFTER TUESDAY. Weather Bureau Makes Forecast for the Coming Week. The weather bureau forecast for the week beginning tomorrow, announced today, is as follows:

"A disturbance that was over the Rocky mountain region Saturday morning will move eastward and be attended by general rains the first part of the week over the region east of the Mississippi river. Another disturbance will in all probability form over the southwest the middle of the week, advancing eastward and prevail over the middle west at the end of the week, attended by unsettled weather and local rains."

The weather will be fair the first half of the week generally west of the Mississippi river; the middle days of the week will be fair in the middle west and south, and generally fair weather will prevail in the eastern and south-eastern states after Tuesday. Temperatures during the week will average near the normal in practically all parts of the country, although a change to considerably cooler weather will spread the northwestern states Tuesday and Wednesday."

ROBERT E. BENDER DEAD. Real Estate Dealer and Graduate of Business High School.

Robert E. Bender, son of Robert W. Bender, one of the wire chiefs of the Western Union Telegraph Company, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 762 Rock Creek Church road.

Mr. Bender, who was twenty-nine years old, was a graduate of Business High School, where he was prominent in athletics. He was engaged in the real estate business here since his graduation.

His wife and daughter survive him. Interment is to be at Glenwood cemetery Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The pallbearers are to be R. B. Dickey, R. E. Winters, J. P. McArder, Andrew Messineo, Harry McKeldin and Richard

EASTERN HIGH PUPILS IN FAIRYLAND SCENES

Skill Displayed by Young Actors in "Midsummer Night's Dream" Before Large Audience.

Fairyland with all of its dancing fairies and prancing elves, and kings and queens, too, together with the nobles and mechanics of Athens, were ushered into the Eastern High School last evening, when the first performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was presented by the Dramatic Club of the Eastern High School before an audience that filled the auditorium of the school and that manifested its hearty approval frequently.

The play was run off with remarkable smoothness for an amateur production and reflected credit upon the efforts of those in the play and their coaches. The performance is to be repeated tonight.

Especially good were those who had the important parts. As Theseus, the Duke of Athens, Lester Desouz portrayed that stately personage to a nicety, while of no less importance is that of Hippolyta, the beautiful queen of the Amazons, a role handled very well by Marion Watson. Cameron Burton as Lysander and Franklin Speer as Demetrius, gave good impersonations of those two warriors after the hand of Helena, who loves Demetrius, but is spurned, is handled by Elsie Jarvis with much skill. Ward Hetfield, as Nick Bottom the Weaver, probably received more applause for his forceful impersonation than any other member of the cast. Mary McClelland was excellent as Titania, queen of Fairyland. Minor Stout as Oberon, king of Fairyland, acquitted himself creditably. Lena Sokolski, one of the fairies, possessed an exceptionally sweet voice.

Other Members of Cast. Other members of the cast included Charles Lyons, George English, William Mengert, Franklin Stewart, William Douglas, Herbert Graves, L. Kaufman, George Smith, Baldwin Hardy, Harold Cummings, Willard King, Myrtle Peacock, Helen Whitman, Anna Murphy, Margaret Burton, Margaret Jester, Thelma Leatherman, Vivian Marshall, Helen McCloskey, Lois Picher, Melva Saks, Marian Whitman, Kizie Lohman, Eleanor Hills and Mary Schell.

Music, under the direction of Mrs. Byram, was given by the Girls' Glee Club, composed of Mary Allaband, Vera Aman, Maud Bayles, Charlotte Bayley, Mary Bean, Margaret Beck, Monica Dwyer, Marian Foley, Mabel Heckman, Madeline Heese, Lucy Higgins, Eleanor Hills, Zella Jasper, Carol Johnson, Beulah Klinehouse, Annie Konrath, Imogene Lawrence, Virginia Agnes Parater, Helen Powell, Margaret Ramsey, Helen Richards, Grace Robinson, Margaret Smith, Rixey Tancill, Mabel Van Dyke, Mary Weber, Edna Wilson, Grace Wormersley and Jessie Wood. Miss Frances Burgess and Miss Anne Fitzhugh assisted at the piano.

The musical program includes a concert of patriotic airs by the Marine Band and the singing of "Maryland, My Maryland," by Miss Edna Sheehy. The D. A. R. march, "America First," opened the exercises.

The program includes an address by Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the D. A. R.; "Milestones, Then and Now," by Fred E. Woodward; presentation of the deed by Robinson White and acceptance by Mrs. George P. Conaway, chairman of the D. A. R. committee on historical sites and a Masonic service; a floral ceremony of the Children of the American Revolution, under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Logan; an address by Mrs. George T. Smallwood, vice president general of the D. A. R.; the principal address by Representative Fess; and the invocation by Rev. Paul Hickok.

Representative Fess' Address. Representative Fess, after telling the meaning of the corner stone, characterized Washington as a statesman, pointing out three great crises of his career which stand out in history, independent of his war record. He explained that he did not thus emphasize the statesmanship of Washington through any latent sympathy with the pacifists.

The three periods he emphasized were: First, his effort to construct a waterway through uniting the Potomac with the upper waters of the Ohio. This famous scheme of his was recommended to a conference in his home at Mount Vernon prior to the adoption of the Constitution. Mr. Fess also stated that Washington saved the great state of Tennessee from uniting its destiny with Spain.

Second: How he controlled absolutely the constitutional convention. He specified some of the crucial moments which he passed in a conflict between advocates of the two forms of government. Representative Fess said "Washington secured the national prerogative in the national government."

The American people, long known as the world's coffee drinkers, actually consume 40 per cent of the amount sold in the international markets, according to figures announced today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. More than a billion pounds of coffee came to this country last year.

Germany normally is second in coffee drinking, but the war cut off her imports last year and made France second, with receipts less than one-fourth as large as America's purchases. The entire United Kingdom consumes only one-thirty-fifth the amount of coffee drunk in the United States.

The United States ranks third in tea drinking, with the United Kingdom first and Russia second. One-fourth of all the cocoa produced in the world finds its way to the United States.

Coffee imports show that the approximate per capita consumption in the United States is ten pounds; tea, seven pounds, and cocoa, one and two-thirds pounds.

Three-fourths of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Brazil and nearly all the remainder from Latin America. Japanese tea is the American favorite, supplying nearly one-half the amount consumed.

ANNIVERSARY DATE BEING CELEBRATED

Ceremonies Recall the Laying of First Milestone of District Boundary.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES FEATURE THE PROGRAM

Gathering of Representative Citizens Near Chesapeake Junction—Message From President Wilson.

With representatives of the federal government taking prominent part, with the president general and the state regent of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution assisting and with several picturesque features in evidence, the 125th anniversary of the laying of the first milestone of the federal jurisdiction is being celebrated at the District line, near Chesapeake Junction, this afternoon.

These ceremonies mark completion of the inclosing of the east corner stone of the District, which was laid by President George Washington April 15, 1791. An interesting feature of the celebration today is the delivery of a deed to Col. W. W. Harts, superintendent of public buildings and military aid to the President, who accepted it in behalf of the federal government. Col. Harts read a letter from President Wilson.

The participation of Mrs. Frank F. Greenawald, the District state regent of the D. A. R., is also an interesting feature, since it was in her administration that the committee was organized for the preservation of records. This committee raised the question whether their duties included such matters as this corner stone, and Mrs. Greenawald made the ruling which has since been widely quoted: "A record is a record whether it is stone or paper."

Features of the Program. The program includes an address by Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the D. A. R.; "Milestones, Then and Now," by Fred E.
